CLIENT INFORMATION

Alwa Law Firm offers legal services in accordance with the Swedish Bar Association's Code of Ethics. We offer an initial legal consultation with a personal meeting as a counseling hour. If we agree to representation, you sign a power of attorney for us to represent you.

In some cases, the state pays for legal aid. It is based on your needs and on your financial situation. The lower the income, the greater the subsidy from the state. It can cease entirely if your income exceeds a certain annual income. Applications are handled by the court or the Legal Aid Board. You may also have an insurance that cover our representation.

Criminal cases, victim cases, migration issues and administrative matters are based on appointment by the court or by other authority. We are remunerated by legal aid. Our fee is decided by the authority.

Other matters we charge corresponding to an hourly rate which is determined based on the matters character and severity. International cases and specialist cases have a higher hourly rate as well as business related legal service. You may be asked to pay an advance retainer for future time spent. If we need to engage legal assistance from abroad, the invoicing will be administrated by us. We will inform you of our terms in your case before we commence to assist you.
